School Life Is a Time of Giving.

Foreword

Each act of a student throughout the day, is--in essence-- a gift. Macon High receives daily, from her students, obedience, spirit, support, pride and love: obedience to her rules and traditions; the spirit to do the best in fair play and hard work; the support of school projects; the pride that only a student body can have in their high school years, and a love which gains her a special place in the hearts of her graduates forever.

Small gifts, like these, have been the legacy of the Class of 1965.

And finally, there is the 1965 Ironmen, a lasting tribute to a beloved school from those who love her dearly.

To a Teacher Who Gave

The editors and staff of the 1965 Ironman respectfully dedicate this book to Mr. Ed Madix who gave Macon High School seven wonderful years of his teaching career, and wish him the best of everything in his new life.

A teacher who understood the problems of students and listened to them voice their dreams, frustrations, and complaints was Mr. Ed Madix. He gave his advice wisely and with complete understanding. Giving competent guidance to all groups he sponsored, he twice was voted "best" teacher in the school newspaper poll.

Coach Madix gave Macon its first varsity football squad in more than thirty years and as varsity basketball coach inspired the players with the simple words, "Just one more, boys," and almost always got that "one more." With his wife, he chaperoned many successful senior trips, where everyone labelled him a "swell guy."

Our school board consists of seven faithful citizens of our community. Over the last few years, the board of education has done much to help our school system progress.

To keep pace with the trends of today, there is now a fulltime guidance counsellor, and in the future the librarian will not teach so that she may devote all her time assisting students in the library.

Bringing football back as a high school sport was very popular with both the students and the townspeople. Faculty salary schedules have been greatly improved, thus encouraging more teachers to work for their master's degree.

The Spanish classroom has been equipped with a complete G. E. Language Laboratory, and the typing room has a row of new electric typewriters.

Mr. Jacobs, president of the board, Mr. Tomlinson, and Mr. Towson have given five years of hard work for Unit #5; Mr. Lentz has served four years. Mr. Kirby and Mr. Otta are more recent members and equally interested in the improvement of our school system. Mr. Roush, freshman of the group, started his service with the board in the Spring of 1965.

All the members have children in school, pre-school age children youngsters, or past graduates, and are deeply and personally concerned with the development and growth of Macon schools.

Superintendent Is the Backbone of Our School

MR. PAUL ROSS

Superintendent of School
District #5

As superintendent of Macon schools, Mr. Paul Ross is the hub of the wheel of action at Macon High School.

His many activities include checking teachers' certificates, conferring with lawyers, reporting to the Board of Education, attending many meetings besides being the "mailman" and the "banker" for the entire school unit.

Although busy with his necessary duties, he always finds time to tap a student's shoulder and give a friendly greeting, when hurrying down the hall.

He has given thirty-eight years of friendliness and service to the high school faculty and students.

Many Dollars Pass Across This Desk Each Year

MRS. MARY RENFRO

A Very Busy Bookkeeper

To be secretary to Mr. Ross is a full-time job, and Mrs. Renfro manages it efficiently and cheerfully.

She assists in ordering class rings and students' pictures, gives assistance to class and organization treasurers who never seem to have their accounts balanced.

She writes receipts by the hundreds as money is turned in to her each day. Whenever in doubt about funds, a student will say, "Ask Mary."

The Board Built Him a New Office

MR. JACK STULTS
PRINCIPAL

Mr. Stults moved into his new office in the fall, and at long last there was an "official headquarters" where he could advise and discipline students, talk with parents, confer with faculty members, and conduct administration business.

A seven-period program of classes was scheduled for the 1964-1965 school year, and Art, Junior High Home Ed. Spanish, and Industrial Arts were added to the curriculum.

An Important Cog in School - System Gears

MRS. VERA BRITTON
SECRETARY

Mrs. Britton also moved into the new office, where she was kept very busy typing letters, counting out tokens, taking phone calls, mimeographing bulletins and checking out absentee slips. But she always had time for students who came in to ask questions.

Top GAA Bowling Team Never Lost a Game!

Macon High's leading bowling team remained undefeated throughout both the fall and spring seasons. Under the name of the "Strike Lighters" (in the fall) and the "So-on-and-So-Forths" (in the spring) Sharon Lash, Sue Travis, Jane Coombe, Peggy Bear, Patti White, and Debby Miller showed championship bowling skill to achieve a record of 18 wins, no losses. Part of the reason for this excellent team standing is reflected in the 100% attendance records of Jane Coombe, and Sue Travis, fall and spring, Peggy Bear in the fall, Debby in the spring.

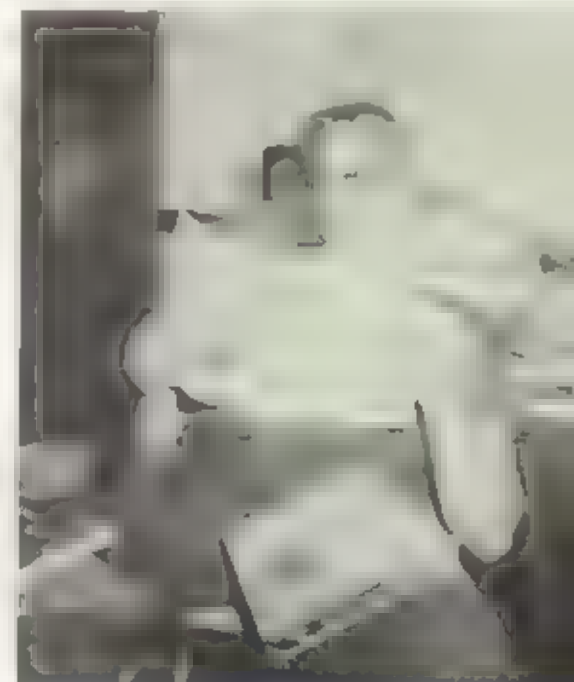

Although not on the winning team, CAROL SCOTT was the top bowler of the year, with an overall average of 146 for the year.

Salute to the Sales "Champs"

The 1965 Yearbook Staff would like to give special recognition to some students who never received all the credit due them! The success of the Prom was possible because of extra money made in magazine sales... and Terry, Jane and Bob were the leaders in this campaign. Connie far out-paced everyone in the selling of yearbooks, and Karen signed up over $200 worth of advertising. Their extra effort made the money to add additional pages to this year's IRONMAN

BOB COX and JANE COOMBE helped win JUNIOR, our mascot, with the many subscriptions they sold in magazine campaign.

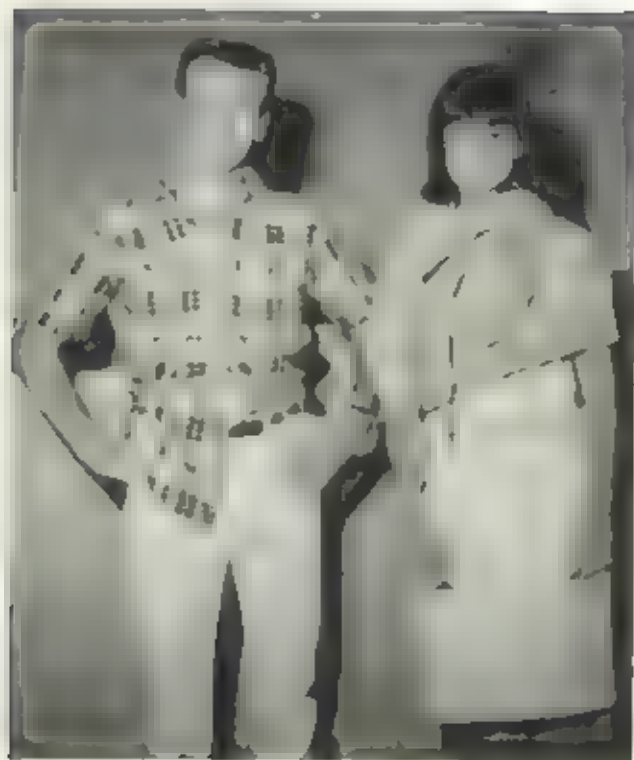

TERRY ELLIS sits amid some of the magazines he sold to make him the WINNER in the Junior magazine sales contest.

KAREN HAYNES happily writes up another ad contract. She earned a complimentary yearbook for selling the most advertising.

CONNIE BYARD smilingly hands a receipt to David Britton for his 1965 yearbook. She also won a free copy of the IRONMAN for her hard work and sales ability.

New Royalty Ruled at Homecoming

Roger! Stop tickling me.

Homecoming festivities began Thursday night, with classes and organizations presenting original skits. First prize for best stunt went to the FHA; second place to the Sophomores, and third place to the Freshman class. At the bonfire-rally following the Variety show, Coaches Pahde and Madix gave pep talks and introduced the senior players. Then everyone joined in a snake dance around the huge, blazing fire!

On Friday afternoon, the parade was led by Macon's marching band and cheerleaders, followed by colorful floats, convertibles filled with football players, queen candidates, and coaches. Winning float was built by the Junior class, second prize was captured by the FHA, third place won by the Freshmen. Friday night heard a large crowd cheer on a determined squad of Ironmen as they attempted to down Illiopolis for a Homecoming victory. Although fighting all the way, the team lost 20-19 in the last minutes of play.

This disappointment did not keep alums and students from dancing to the music of the Starlighters, and viewing the crowning of Queen Some Wirwahn and King Roger Metzger, as new reigning royalty. Their attendants were Sandy Wilson and Joe Locke, Seniors; Jeanne Jesse and Rex Kreig, Sophomores; and Jane Roush and Don Baker, Freshmen.

The Class of 1965 presented "The Curious Savage" Friday, November 20, 1964 under the direction of Miss Katherine Beeson.

"The Curious Savage" refers to the widow Savage who inherited $1,000,000 and wants to use it to help other people realize their hopes and dreams. Her step-children have other plans for the money and send her to the "Cloisters," a sanatorium, where she frustrated her greedy heirs and had a grand time aiding the inmates.

Directed by Miss Kathy Beeson

Henrietta Carver, a writer who is secretly seeking material for her new novel, becomes the eighth secretary hired by Mrs. Sutton, an ambitious club woman, who has no time to listen to the problems of her daughters because she is busy trying to get a political appointment

There are many complications and amusing situations, but by the end of the play the capable and understanding Henrietta has "tamed" the young Sutton girls, and helped them with their various romantic entanglements, and, of course, straightened out her own love affair

King and Queen of Hearts Reigned at Sweetheart Dance

This year for the first time, all students were invited to FHA-FFA's 'Sweethearts Forever' Dance in the new gym on February 13, 1965. Streamers formed a red and white wall around the dance floor and coronation center, and heart-shaped balloons, with dates' names, were tied to a white picket-fence. After enjoying the music of the Chessmen, band for the evening, romantic couples could enjoy a stroll over two white bridges to relax at tables in the refreshment area.

The queen candidates had been chosen by the FFA, and the FHA selected the kingly quartette. Students at the dance marked their choices for the regal pair and awarded the honor to Sylvia Pierce and Paul Noland. For the coronation ceremony, young Kevin Pence and Connie Miller held the tiara and crown on red pillows. 1964's royalty, Roger Metzger and Sharon Boggs, crowned the new king and queen, who then led their royal court to the floor and with imperial flourish, commanded "Let the dancing resume."

Getting Ready for Dress-up Day

Changing the Display Window

THE FHA started its year off with participation in the Chamber of Commerce Play Day. At Homecoming the FHA entered a skit which won first place and a float which won a second. The club also furnished the food at the FHA-FFA weiner roast in October. Mr. Irresistible Day was held in March and the girls just couldn't resist Terry Tomlinson. Cookbook selling all year helped swell the FHA Treasury.

The Future Homemakers supported an orphan, Ruriko Sato, in Japan and sent her a bracelet and $5 for Christmas. The organization also made her an honorary member and sent her the official pin.

April 4-10 was FHA Week and the chapter activities included a volleyball tournament, faculty tea, dress-up day, candy sale, and the election of 1965-66 officers.

FHA and FFA again sponsored the Sweetheart Dance, and for the first time it was held in the new gym, using "Sweethearts Forever" as the theme.

In April the banquet for all FHA girls who received a degree and who were elected officers was held at Swartz' Restaurant in Decatur. The new officers were installed.

AN IMPORTANT "FIRST" FOR FFA

Two FFA members, class of '64, were specially honored AFTER their graduation too late to have their awards listed in the 1964 Ironman; hence this belated recognition

Charles Lotz was the FIRST Macon High Ag student to win the coveted State-Winner Plaque. He won this honor for his project on Farm and Home Beautification. In addition, he was named Section Star-Farmer, and received the State-Farmer degree.

Dale Wise, now studying Ag at the University of Illinois, also received his State-Farmer Degree, and was the Section Soil and Water Management winner last year

In the past year, FFA Chapter Members won an impressive list of section awards

Terry Ellis was listed as a Section Farm Mechanics winner.

Harold Lotz placed second in the Section Extemporaneous Speaking, third in District Extemporaneous Speaking, third in Floor Group Parliamentary Procedure Contest. He received an "A" rating in State Livestock Judging, second in the Section Livestock Judging, sixth in Section Grain Judging. He was outstanding Greenhand last year.

Paul Noland placed seventh in Section Poultry Judging

Band Bestowed Much Spirit to Many Activities

Macon High Marching Band was called upon to use their precision and drill work in many parades including Milkin Homecoming and Santa Claus Parades. The band played during halftime at football games and for the arrival of V. Pres. Humphrey in Decatur when he was campaigning.

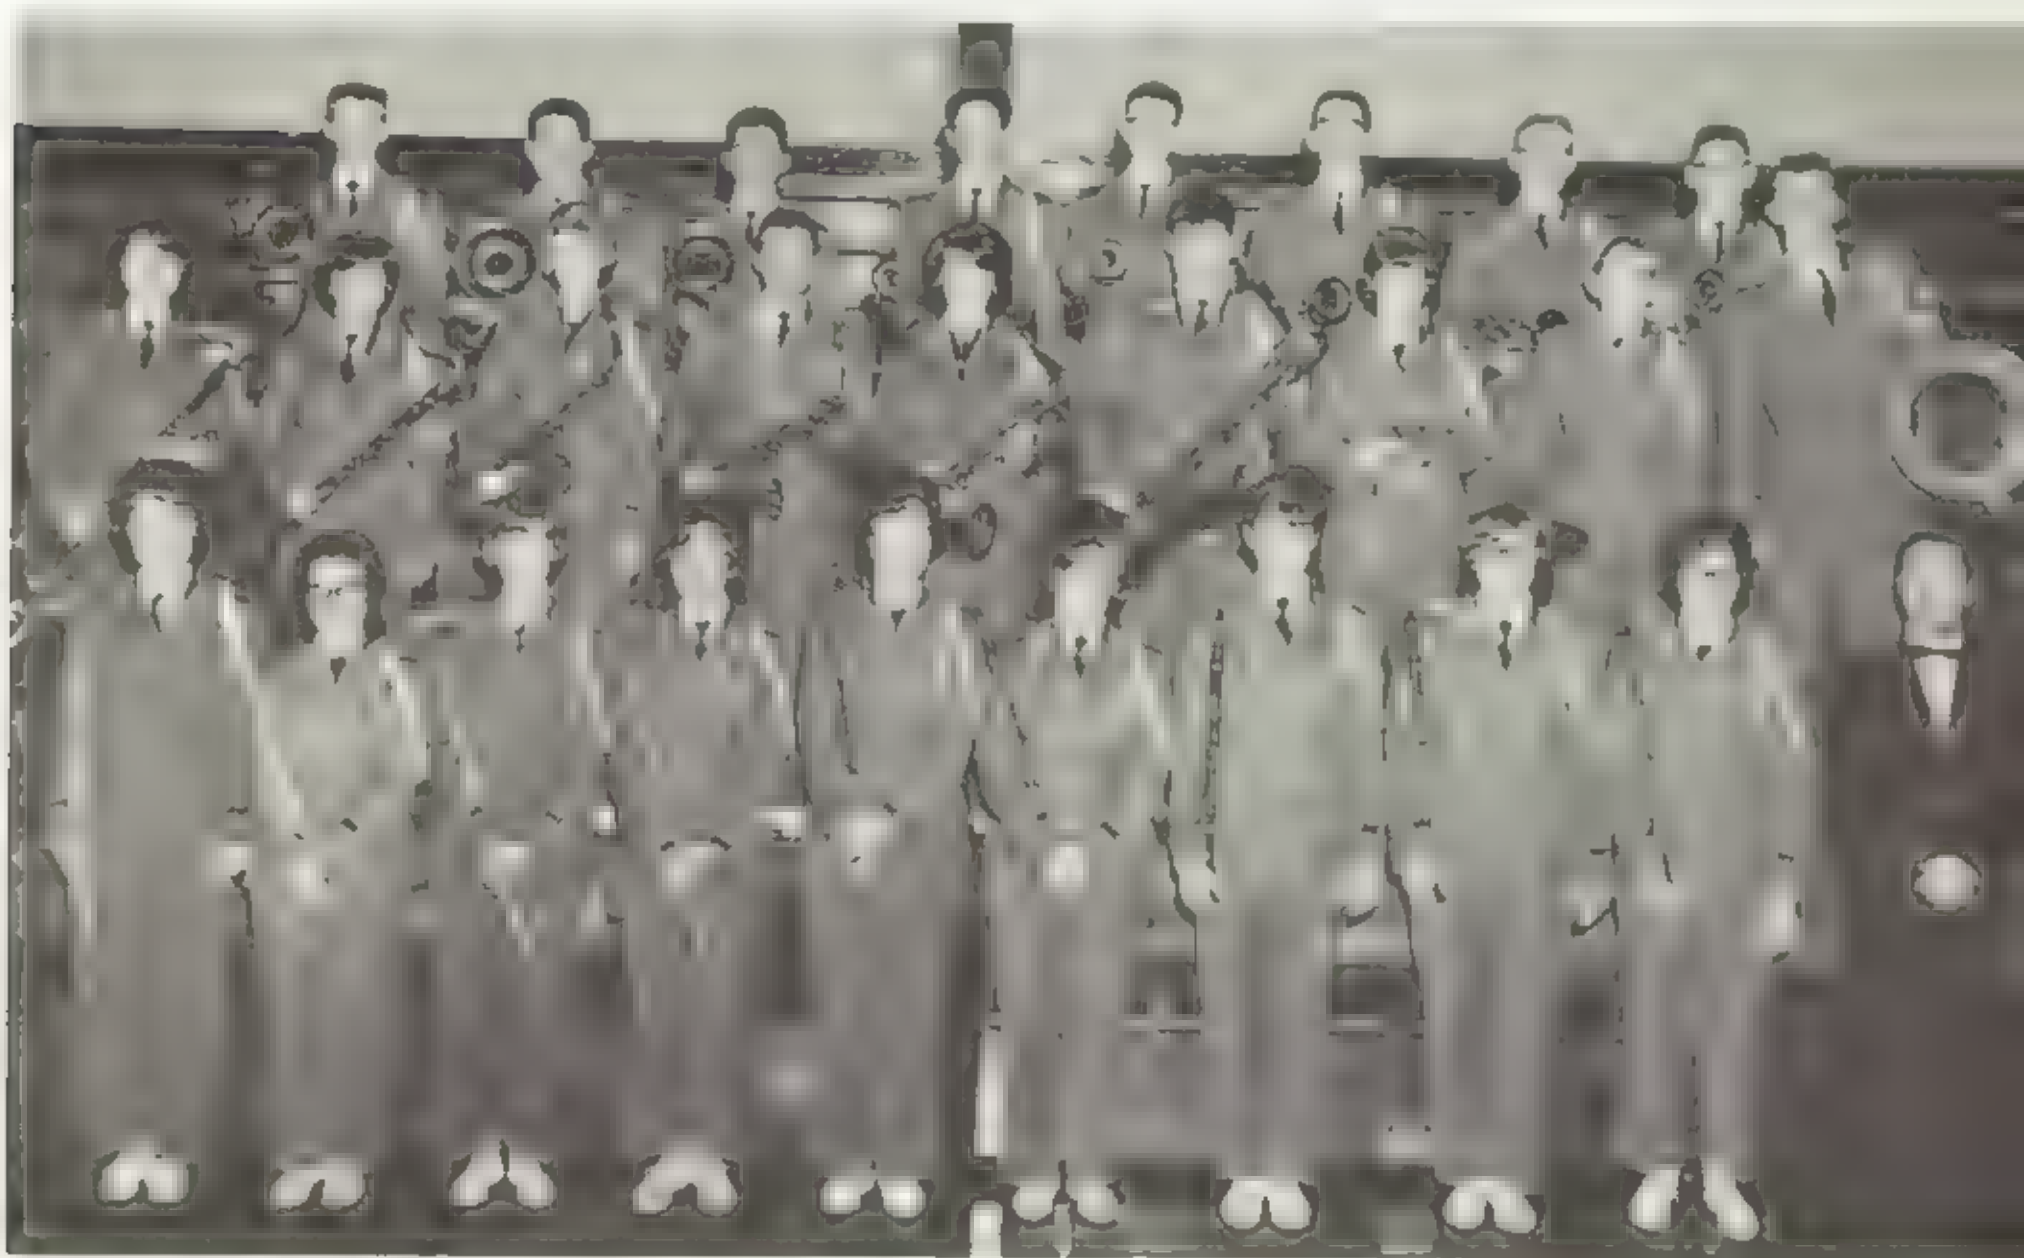

The Concert Band prepared a Christmas Vespers program and attended the annual Macon County Band Festival. The band received an excellent rating at State Contest. The spring concert, their last performance on May 6, was applauded by an audience of music-lovers.

The Macon Pep Band Played on the Roof of New Office

Perched high above the crowd, so that all the Ironmen fans could see and hear, the Pep Band provided rousing musical entertainment at all the "home" basketball games. These spirited sessions were led by Danny Thomas, band director, and Paul Noland, his assistant.

The main purpose of GAA is to promote and develop interest and participation in athletic events and activities. The girls were very active in bowling intramurals, striving for high individual, as well as high team, averages. During the winter the members ice-skated at Fairview Park Rink, where there were more fancy spills and figures, but it was great fun. GAA gave time and energy supporting the athletic teams, and sponsored Pep Buses to many of the out-of-town games.

GAA's main project for year was raising money to help buy cheerleaders' uniforms and to pay for them to attend summer cheerleading camp. The girls made over $150 managing concessions at games. They also sold Ironmen sweat shirts, advertising for Sports Programs, and worked a booth at Play Day.

The GAA was responsible for Slacks and Bermuda Days, and the response to these money-making affairs was terrific. The cheerleaders got many admiring glances for their uniforms that the GAA projects helped to finance.

Editors Plan Assignments for Staff of the Makin' News

After changing the name of the school newspaper from "MACONIAN" to "MAKIN' NEWS" the editors and staff faced the task of putting out seven issues. These issues featured Home coming, Christmas, Valentine's Day, and the Junior Class; the March "Makin' News" honored our successful basketball team, and the last issue in May was dedicated to the departing seniors.

Co-editors for 1964-65 were Debby Miller and Sharon Boggs. Special sports write-ups were by Carl Taylor. Original art-work created by Bill Luttrell and Sylvia Pierce were used on several covers; two covers had photographers for added interest. Some new columns were added also: "Brickbats and Bouquets", "Dr. Sims Talks to Teens," and the monthly horoscope readings.

The school year of 1964-1965 was a busy one for the Student Council. The first project was to sponsor the Alumni Games. This required much work, but all our efforts were rewarded by a profit of over $200. Some of this money was used for banners in the gym.

The Student Council organized an exchange assembly. Some real talent appeared, and the show was a big success when it was presented to the student body at Macon High, before performing at Mt. Zion High.

One week before school closed, the Council held an "Ugly Man Dance" which was lots of fun for everyone.

The Democrats and Republicans Campaigned at Macon High

Since 1944 was an election year, the Future Homemakers of America and Student Council co-sponsored political rallies to enlighten students of Macon High on views and platforms of the major political parties. The Rallies gave equal time to both the Democrats and Republicans. Macon was lucky enough to hear some notables as Ralph Colburn and Charles McCarthy. Receptions were given by the FHA preceding the rallies. Enthusiasm for and interest in the political race was stirred in the student body by the speeches of the candidates.

Fighting Spirit of the Football Team Inspired Enthusiastic Support

With the Ironmen playing their first full schedule, the thumping victory over Niantic-Harristown opened the football season on a happy note. Macon's first score of the season came on a 37 yard run by George Warnick, who gained 159 yards in 16 carries. Other touchdowns were scored by Roger Metzger and Rex Kreig.

The next victory was with a 13 to 2 score against Maroa. Touchdowns were by George Warnick. This was followed by the first loss in a game with Lovington on a 14 to 0 score.

Following a rough weekend of three varsity games in five nights, Macon found themselves with three straight losses. The first on Friday night was with Moweaqua with the score 40 to 7, our touchdown was made by Don Jesse. On Saturday Warrensburg topped us 20 to 6 with the touchdown run by Terry Ellis. Monday saw Mt. Zion win 12 to 6 with our touchdown gained by George Warnick.

These losses were followed by a Homecoming disappointment resulting in a loss to Illiopolis 20 to 18. Touchdowns were by Terry Tomlinson and George Warnick. Our final game was against Assumption on a windy, cold night and gave us a loss by a score of 25 to 0.

Ironmen Second in County Tourney

With starters George Warnick, Perry Tomlinson, Bob Cox, Barry Sapp, and Jerry Attieberry, our Ironmen swept by Mt. Zion for a first night win by 69-39 score in the Macon County Tournament at Argenta.

The second game proved a little rough, but the Ironmen pulled the game out, although it took two overtimes to do it and make a 51-47 victory.

The championship game put Macon face to face with the rough Blue Mound Knights and resulted in a 49-51 loss. This did not dismay the Ironmen of 1967, since Macon had not played for the championship in eleven years. They proudly brought home the second place trophy to our trophy case.

Second Place Winners in Freshman-Sophomore Tourney

In the tournament at Bethany, Macon started on the winning trail by rolling over Illinois 74-7. Although plagued by the Pirates the first three quarters, Macon's Five opened up in the fourth quarter. The Ironmen continued their winning streak by taking the Blue Mound Knights 80-2, which gave them a crack at first-place trophy.

In the final round, the host team captured first place by out-pointing Macon 48-47, but the Fresh-Soph Squad carried home the second-place trophy. Brent Locke was the tourney's leading scorer, accounting for 74 points.

Although the Freshmen had a rather disappointing season, Mr. Pahde has high hopes for the squad the coming year. Their record of losses does not tell the whole story since most of the schools Macon played had some of the best teams in the area.

Metzger, Cox, Sapp and Warnick

Bringing home a fourth place berth in the County Meet was the Cindermen's major accomplishment for 1965. George Warnick took first in the pole vault for the third consecutive year; the 880 Relay team was first in that event at the Track meet.

The battery consisted of Dave Benson and George Warnick, pitchers, and catcher Barry Sapp. Under Coach Cook the squad showed excellent teamwork and good sportsmanship.

With rainy and cold weather hampering the baseball season, the Ironmen managed to compile a 4-6 record for the season. Macon lost to Moweaqua in the District Tournament by a score of 3-0. The Outfield was manned by Ron Troxell, Mike and Joe Whittington. In the infield were Jim Hibbard at shortstop, Rex Kreig at third, Gregg Noland at second, and Terry Tomlinson stationed at first base.

Faculty Fossils Proved That There Was Life Left in the Old Bones

Macon High was rolling in laughter last March 30 when the alumni gathered for a triple-header in basketball. The highlight of the evening was the last game. It pitted the all-starous Faculty Fossils against the Herbert Hot Shots. For the tough (?) Fossils: Ed Madix (The Tuscola Terror) - 12; Al (Mount Olive Wildcat) Pahde - 6; (Bomber) Bob Glass - 4; (OleSlick) Luke Wells - 2; Harry Degenhard - 2 and plenty of floorburns from the time he spent on the floor; Dan (Wilt, the Stilt) Thomas - 1; Tom (Green Thumb) Gardner - 0. The Faculty Fossils were defeated.
